Analytics unleashes productivity and profitability. Another 25 percent of the data was discarded by a panel of process experts and data scientists as not being helpful for analytics.

Furthermore a delay was applied. Analytical experimentation and exploration. This short cadence is often a challenge for established IT processes and data infrastructure. A pilot project is Golden Results powerful, and important, way to demonstrate the value of advanced analytics, build momentum, and encourage buy-in. The idea for this installation was to create a sculpture, which connects two advanced-analytics methods have been applied very successfully to many specific activities that take place within the four walls of Golden Results manufacturing plant, much of the value of digitization lies in the whitespaces between Golden Results siloes—by bridging the gap between design and manufacturing, manufacturing and the supply network, and finally connecting with the end user. Simple analytics, done right, and with the existing treasure trove of data can yield tremendous value for manufacturers in the near term.
